

Good Afternoon,

As we continue our transition to Workday's Student Information System, we want to ensure the project remains deeply connected to the needs of our faculty, staff, and students. To support this, we've organized our project oversight and advocacy into four key areas:

Project Oversight & Campus Advocacy

Project Leadership

Executive Sponsors and the Steering Committee providing vision, institutional alignment and decision-making.

Functional Project Workstreams

Dedicated staff experts from campus offices and LITS professionals who are designing and building the system.

Faculty Workday Advisory Group

Representative faculty members ensuring the project plan and system support academic policy and faculty needs. This group is the designated point of contact for any faculty inquiries or feedback.

Ambassador Networks

Peer-to-peer networks providing a direct feedback loop for staff and faculty (with a student network starting fall 2026). As your direct line to the project team, Ambassadors are the designated contacts for any questions and feedback.

Winner Winner!

Congratulations to our winners for the last contest round:

- Christina Schubert, Laboratory Coordinator and Lecturer in Biology
- Jennifer Guiden, Instrumentation Specialist in Chemistry
- Jessica Skeldon, Associate Director, Promotion & Operations in the Maurice Horowitch Career Center

Prizes will be delivered by July 31.

WORKDAY STUDENT INFORMATION SYSTEM COUNTDOWN

PRIZE PACK

*Communi-Tea:
The Perfect Blend*

Tea Sampler Set
Tea Steeper
Honey Spoons

While we love the tech that keeps us connected, a successful Workday transition is really about the people. Just as a great cup of tea requires the right balance of ingredients, our project relies on the combined voices of leadership, staff, and faculty. This month's prize features a premium tea set, complete with honey spoons and a tea steeper.

To enter this month's contest, you will identify a few key members of the TEAm and "spill the tea" on what you're most curious about as we move forward.

Keep the Conversation Going 💬

Looking for more information? Check out our Workday FAQ Page, now including questions about the Student Information System (SIS) - where we will post answers to the most common questions. Your input is directly shaping the resources we create!

We appreciate you staying connected with this project!
